Roll the dice eh!

Gamble on yourself, find out how amazing potential, fabulous options and an alternate reality second to none that will improve your risk taking ability, providence and success in every way.

Understandably, we all have goals, responsibilities and expectations, we all have our dreams. With Capital Vault Incorporated, we realize that this program will appeal to a few people, knowing full well that this is not so conventional everyday stuff we talk about, but the essence of making a difference and believing that life can be better and that it is better as we continue in the direction of our dreams, focusing on what we like and want, being part of a solution, however great or small, each within our capacity, interest, needs, desires, time and resource. It is all important that we each believe that we can take action in that direction, not just reading, thinking, planning, but actually doing, actually involved as action adds up to success!

It is important to close the gap between what we know and what we do, it is important to make decisions and take action everyday to bring us another step closer to achieving our goals, succeeding in every way imaginable, enjoying the comfort, security, happiness, friends and family, with a greater sense of community having the pride and immense satisfaction that we experience by doing our part in truly making Canada the best place in the world to our own satisfaction.

It's important that, "We have got to re-route the main power conduit captain". This is the conduit of money, time, resources, our personal decision, no one else can do it for you, you are the captain, it is important that you direct, influence, energize with positive thoughts, supporting beliefs and fortified actions to be a master of your destiny. It's important to know that quantum physics, meta-physics and your focus are useful tools to create your universe, and that all the things that are important can be part of and included in that universe, and that you can really find that out for yourself to be true today and everyday as you look for and confirm that evidence.

We know you can do it, we imagine it in your eyes, your focus and determination, even as you read this, the connection is made, the energy field is there, there is no mistake that your life will never be the same again. You must know that greater potential can be realized, that you are infinitely capable of great achievement, and if you do not already know, that there is a whole lot more going on that meets the eyes. In fact, you can never let that unexplored, neglected or suppressed potential rest, or worse yet, to put it on the shelf of oblivion to collect dust with the promise of doom, defeat and a defrauded future that will certainly result, instead of the everyday happiness and success that can be all yours, just for your choosing. This is the freedom of choice planet, the universe in on your side, cheering you on as you dare to live your dreams, to fulfill your true purpose, it is time you do what you are here for, to do what is really important.

You owe it to yourself, your deserve answers, solutions, a practical course of action to honesty express the best of who you are, to explore all those possibilities, to really put it all out on the line, to stand tall and true, confidently, solidly, assertively, to take that step of faith that eventually we all must, leaving behind the comfort of apathy, stagnation, mediocrity, criticism, insecurities, fear, doubt, all those worries about what anyone else might think and anything else that gets in the way, anything else that we resist or are frustrated and annoyed by, we must each deal with all these things one by one, we must prevail, conquer everyday with the kind of tenacity, patience, energy, passion and resourcefulness that stand true with the power of faith, our belief in something more, in something greater, tangible yes, intangible perhaps, something with your name on it, never the less.

We each can know in our hearts, minds and sub-conscious the everyday reality that we experience, the kind of happiness and thrill of being alive that we can jump out of bed in the morning and race off to the newest, best, most exciting day of our lives, is something that is possible for every one of us. The kind of life that we share in common is about challenge, risk, reward, opportunity and the greatest adventure of all time. Right now, be honest, if you have ever been bored out of your mind, wished for something different, or could be part of a solution and not the problem, or wished for something really exciting and exhilarating, enthusiastic and energizing and have wondered what to do, or wished for something hopeful that you could really relate to, even if it was anything that could spark you off in the right direction, pay attention. Well, hopefully you can find some of that here, as certainly this venture is a quest and adventure at the same time.

We all need to exercise the courage to step forward to what makes us feel more alive. Exciting relationships, work, recreation and creative projects, fun and adventure, exploration and discovery, exciting investments and opportunity are just some of the things that appeal to us. No more mind numbing, energy stealing, future defrauding, soul destroying, time wasting, boring stuff we don't give a damn about. We want something that lights up the eyes and neurons in our brain, something that makes us vibrate and go at whatever speed we desire, those things that light us on fire, makes us smile and experience the kind of happiness we are looking and yearning for. We need to experience a crystal clear sense of alertness and vision of who we are and where we are going, what we stand for and what is important to us, the real us, the soul inside, often neglected, suppressed, ignored, frustrated and tortured by all the things that are just not right and need to be changed.

Our efforts, includes our ability to express ourselves, get the point across, generate response, involvement and stoke the fires of enthusiasm. We all need to dare a little or a lot more to see how far we can go, surpass any pre-conceived limits, limiting belief structures, things that effect us but don't need to, limits and criticisms that need to be exceeded or neutralized on our life journey. We can focus on our personal development, new relationships and alternate future reality that belongs to each of us made possible by a little or a lot of dreaming and more importantly, our actions and intention, our choice to re-invent and redevelop our world. Hmmm, now we are talking eh? All the more reason to roll the dice eh! Yes, choosing and doing this, opens up exciting possibilities of creating an alternate reality including our personal growth, there are no limits and the possibilities are forever mind expanding to say the least.

With this multi-dimensional panorama of vast possibilities, we would like to share the opportunities in being part of something that is exciting, inspiring, motivating, valuable, challenging and rewarding with the added benefit of being something that can transform one's learning, growth, value, character and capacity to make a difference, succeed in mission tasking, develop greater levels of trust, responsibility and corresponding capacity to optimize boldly opportunities that might exceed our present imagination and awareness at this time, with positive and beneficial growth generating responsiveness, initiative and co-operative risk and reward faculties directed with a focus of intentional and actual ability.

A life with more psychological impetus, balanced perspective, applied energy, creative faculties of imagination, courage, valour and ability to get involved is more challenging. Our growth and progressive empowerment dedicated to continuous improvement as a valuable member of society is useful, essential and priceless. So, when we do say that the universe and Capital Vault Incorporated is on your side, the big picture and purpose of expressing the best of who we are in the greatest adventure of all time should be evident.
