Unified Goals

Problem solving is a sport and an action plan is a lot like a game plan like players on the team, or a tradesman with his box of tools. We work together to win and utilize our special collection of tools so that all members stand in the winners circle, the gladiators of the arena.

Although there are many types of goals and perspectives, we may share in common various goals that we can identify with and can vary from person to person;

At an adventure level, this is our quest in the greatest adventure of all time goals!

At a relationship and social level, these are relationship and social life goals.

At a financial level, these are financial goals.

At a doing anything we want level, this is the experience of doing and being what we love goals.

At a personal level, this is our character, personality and everyday quality of life goals.

At a profession, trade and career level, this is providing excellence in service to society goals.

At a business level, this is our vision, organization, strategic capabilities and business goals.

At a group level, this includes any present and future co-operative and competitive actions, mission and goals.

At a community level, this is all about building, contributing to and being part of a vibrant growing community goals.

At a national level, this is our personal contributions to the bigger national life, success, opportunity and prosperity goals.

At a spiritual level, this is an eternal goal, our spiritual growth and evolution.

Of course, this might be a bit of a simplification of stating the obvious, but seeing how it all fits together and contributes to a higher purpose is definitely a worthwhile endeavour.

Knowing and understanding that, if what we want is an excellent quality of life, great relationships, challenging and rewarding opportunity, enhanced ability to express the best of who we are, making an everyday difference is important to each of us. We can work more effectively with the big picture in the mind to be even more successful as we go forward with confidence, intelligence, optimism, enthusiasm and energy.

Capital Vault Incorporated

There is no fine print, tricky deals, hard bargains, no high pressure, stress, coercion, compulsion or fear tactics. Nobody is hustling you for money to invest, even though these options are very down to earth, promotes a high powered economic system and definitely says goodbye forever with “no more boring investments” there are plenty of options without investing, and there are plenty of ways to invest even without money and investing is not even required, just so you know!

You can take all the time you need and make decisions that are good for you. Although a lot of thinking and effort has gone into this project, we encourage all members to think and decide for themselves with their own unique perspective, awareness, knowledge and other relevant factors. We aim to present these solutions, memberships, accounts, programs, options, opportunities and proposals as best as we possibly can within our present level of awareness and capability to help our members achieving goals with us and the CVI-Options.

The continuous improvement challenge requires dedicated time and resources to develop better ways to express, organize and present these options, add greater value for members, features, benefits and the all important capabilities and solutions. We believe this will be and infinitely worthwhile project for those involved and participating in.

There are always many ways to do things and achieve goals, but the main thing is to make plans and take action, get some feedback and make whatever course adjustments necessary to bring us closer to our individual, company, group and national goals. These objectives include the success of our members, customer happiness, profitable multiple bottom lines that enables not only share-owner success, but also represents the many powerful non-investing options, non-financial contributions and overall operational sustainability. This means that member and customer relationship, brand development and management, citizenship, professional and industry associations, philanthropy, governance, responsibility, environment, ethics and civilized behaviour are essential aspects of everyday life. This foundation and vision unified with our members inter-acting in society provide great potential. We believe that we will only achieve long term profitable growth by enabling, augmenting, amplifying and ensuring the success of our members and increased quality of life and opportunities everywhere. The innovative business and capital solutions are a part of that endeavour. We greatly appreciate this opportunity and accept the responsibility and accountability that goes with the territory.

Also, what we don't have, we can invent. If you don't understand something, we probably can explain it better. Perspective works both ways. The challenges, goals and problems that we may be confronted with can generate a considerable range of powerful and practical options, realistic action plans and a systematic way to achieve goals. In the end, as it is in the beginning, we each must choose, no one is exempt. To accept and exercise personal responsibility is to vastly increase your power, control and results, while reducing stress, uncertainty and other negative or detrimental attitudes and outlook. This system has been designed to streamline the decision making process and will work if you know what you like and want. Simply direct, personal and private is a good start many of us prefer and appreciate.

Additionally, the chance to free your mind and express your true capabilities will be encouraged here. We hope you will find a refreshing atmosphere that promotes independent, creative imagination and success, in addition to the prosperity and success of all group members and more opportunity to make the world a better place. The timeless ideas of how your environment and self-image effect your opportunities and performance are obvious, knowing that not everyone dedicates their life to inventing, organizing and presenting relevant options, making provisions for their access, implementation and benefit that are essential to the well being and growth of individuals and various related groups. So, in this endeavour promoting the awareness, enabling and increasing the future or existing member to respond, take action and transform the present reality into an alternate reality of everything they want it to be is essential. That's part of the fun, the essence of the game, the power to choose, act, make a difference.

We focus on solutions, constructive, positive and purposeful actions, we like the idea of co-operation, as many hands make light work, it is very simple. We don't have all the answers or solution, but together, maybe we can find or develop them. Our agenda is our goal to create good solid well paying jobs, more vibrant industries and a whole lot of genuine options that you can believe in and choose from. This is the land of opportunity, in a life style that is more ideal.

This is the idea with co-operative endeavours to build great things together. Even at it's most simple and basic point of consensus and co-operation, making progress, achieving any type, size or complexity of goals, success program dynamics and revitalized national, industry, community, family and personal development and realities is a worthwhile and noble endeavour and one should never under-estimate their personal ability to make a difference, as it all adds up and amplified in mysterious and not so mysterious ways.

Furthermore, as a benefit, working together with your new understanding and perspective, you will notice that you can exceed the super-imposed cautious risk averse and 'you can't be too careful' or 'that's not realistic' mentality. You will find out for yourself that doing nothing is very risky, not making a decision is a decision, and those that take risks are free, and that people who make decisions increase their power, all because of one thing...freedom of choice with genuine options.

You will find out for yourself that our individual and group destiny supports and makes possible the success of our endeavours, we need to trust ourselves, move in the direction of our goals and intentions, allow unlimited synchronicity as we discover our purpose and reason for being here. Life can get a whole lot more exciting and now is the time to put more thought, energy, intensity with a greater enlightened perspective and awareness and work at these endeavours.

We hope that as you continue to work within your comfort zone in this mutual quest, learning, growth, understanding and awareness, achieving excellence and progress, success and a quality of life will be an enjoyable, challenging and rewarding experience in every way.
